

Athena Range Timber lockers

More and more the gym areas within a traditional leisure centre will be competing directly with the private health club operators within the local area. The competition for members is increasingly more difficult. The changing room is one area often overlooked when refurbishing an existing club or creating a new gym. The Athena range of Timber lockers is designed to transform the Gym changing area into a locker room that would be the envy of any private health club

Good looking is not the only criteria which Garran leisure aspires to, that is why all the materials are sourced from the best available, backed by the latest in manufacturing technology means every installation will enhance the experience of all users in the facility.

Available in a wide range of materials and finishes to complement any location or application, the Athena range will exceed the expectations of the most discerning of members

A wide range of ancillary products to complement the whole installation is available, from bench seating which can be timber topped or upholstered finish, to vanity unities allowing for hairdryers and mirrors,

The lockers can be finished to incorporate some stunning lighting effects above below or around mirrors

Changing cubicles can also be built in within the changing areas, particularly in the Ladies or in areas of high cultural diversity where a certain amount of privacy is desirable.
